FORMER SALVATION ARMY BARRACKS — Romulus, in its campaign to rid the city of unsafe and hazardous structures has approved the demolition of 10 former Salvation Army barracks, located on Middlebelt Road between Wick and Goddard Roads. The structures, which have been vacant for some time, are owned by a Miami, Fla., resident. Demolition crews began their work last week.

License granted to Ramada Inn

By HENRY CANTIN
Ramada Inn of Romulus finally has received the approval of Romulus City Council in its quest for a liquor license.

The council granted its approval of the inn's request at last Thursday's council meeting.

The approval came after weeks of delays and denials and several appearances before the city council by B.B. Moshier, counsel for Ramada Inn, and inn representatives.

The roll call vote of the council in granting the $4 million motel its liquor license was 6-0. Council President Jimmie Raspberry abstained from voting for "personal reasons."

Ramada Inn sought the council's approval of a transfer of a resort tavern license from Green Oak Township, Livingston County to Romulus for use at Ramada Inn and its waiver of license transfer fees in the amount of $250, which had been paid to Green Oak Township.

Nehra Jr. of 38844 Huron River Dr., son of Joseph Nehra Sr., who has operated Jo-Jo's Party Store at 38830 Huron River Dr. for the last 35 years.

The elder Nehra had filed the application for the license for his son and appeared before the council on three occasions before receiving the council's approval.

Motion to approve Nehra's request was made by Pennington. He was supported by Edwards. The roll call vote to approve the motion was by a vote of 4-3. Both had maintained the "Little Man" in the community should be considered in the issuance of liquor licenses.

Councilmen James C. Stewart, William M. Oakley and Fred Junior Block voted against the motion. Council President Raspberry, Pennington, Edwards and Bizek voted in favor of the motion.

On Friday, Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael vetoed the council's approval of the application filed by Nehra.

Mayor Carmichael said he vetoed the action of the council relative to Nehra's license approval "until such time as all applicants are analyzed and their plans for development are known. If we are going to help the city we should know what their plans are in the future development of the community."

Still on the waiting list is the application of Holiday Inn located at 31200 Detroit Industrial Expressway.

Following the council's vote for Ramada Inn, Moshier explained the long controversy by saying, "My client was a victim of circumstance. The same thing could happen to anyone."

"What can you do when there's a conflict on the city council?"

The council's recommendation for approval of the two licenses will be referred to the State Liquor Control Commission, which has the authority to issue the licenses.

A motion made by Councilman Pennington to have the city attorney John E. Young seek an opinion from Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank E. Kelley on the mayor's veto rights was unanimously approved by the council.

Attorney Young rules vote was not in conflict

Charges of alleged conflict of interest against two members of the Romulus City Council relative to the distribution of new liquor licenses have been answered in an opinion rendered by City Attorney John E. Young.

The conflict of interest accusations against the two councilmen were voiced at the Oct. 5 council meeting by some Romulus residents who were in attendance at the meeting.

The councilmen accused by the residents were Edmund W. Bizek, whose father Edmund Bizek, former Romulus Township supervisor and former Wayne County commissioner, is among the 57 applicants seeking a Class C liquor license, and Brooker R. Edwards, whose name is also among the list of applicants.

Councilman Edwards has reported he is no longer seeking a license. His statement came at the conclusion of the Oct. 5 council meeting and again at the Oct. 14 session.

As of last Monday, Edwards' name still remained on the list of applicants.

The opinion of the city attorney was requested on the list of applicants.

The opinion of the city attorney was requested by Councilman Bizek.

Young's opinion said in part:

"The City Charter in section 4.11 restricts city officers with respect to them or members of their immediate family having an interest in municipal contracts. A liquor license is not a contract. The charter also provides in section 6.9 that no councilman shall vote on any question in which he has any financial interest other than the common public interest.

"The reported cases have generally restricted the concept of "financial interest" to direct and substantial financial interest of the officer involved. The financial interest of a relative is generally held not to disqualify an officer from voting on the issue.

Young added that since the State Liquor Control Act provides that the governing bodies of cities in counties of over one million people do not determine to whom liquor licenses will be granted, that law is clearly not applicable.

"Therefore", he said, "the issue is not covered by applicable statutory or charter law. There exists no express

Farmers must speak up to ensure their survival

Farmers need a reasonable return on their investment to survive, State Agricultural Department Director B. Dale Ball said at the annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau Women in Belleville last week.

"America's cheap food policy must be replaced with a reasonable food policy if the small farmer is to remain in business," Ball said.

Ball said a data processing farm accounting program conducted by Michigan State University showed the average return on investment over a five year period by seven major types of farms in the state was 6.54 per cent.

"Yet when farmers borrow money from the bank they must pay up to 10 per cent," Ball said.

The farmer has a greater investment per worker than even the automobile industry, he stated. The average Michigan farmer, he reported, invests almost $90,000 per worker while the automobile and associated equipment manufacturers invest about $15,000.

Ball noted that at a meeting of Women for Survival of Agriculture in Michigan a statement was made that an increase of only one-half cent per pound for apples could mean the difference between economic survival and bankruptcy for many apple growers.

"Farmers must speak up if they are to make the public aware of present farm economic conditions," Ball said.

A 250-page document detailing the rules and regulations in a new proposed building code ordinance for Romulus has been completed. Clayton Meldrum, director of building department announced Monday.

The proposed rules and regulations are now receiving final review by Meldrum's department before being submitted to the city's legal counsel.

The code is expected to be presented to City Council within the next three weeks for its approval.

The new code covers all phases of building, fire regulations and the Department of Public Works, but not electrical, heating, plumbing or refrigeration, which are covered by other ordinances.

The city has been operating under the provisions and regulations of the Building Officials Code of America (BOCA), which Meldrum reported was not specific enough for the local area.

The City Charter adopted in May, 1970 required the City Council to adopt a building code of its own.

Building in Romulus continues to increase

Building in Romulus continued its upward swing during the month of September, Clayton Meldrum, manager of the Romulus Building Department, reported.

In September the department issued 122 building permits totalling $2,265,259 in construction projects. In August the department issued 63 permits for building in excess of $4 million.

September amounted to $1,097,755. Of this total, $1,055,000 was for the construction of 66 one-family homes and $40,395 for construction of additions and alterations to present dwellings.

The total number of permits issued by the department including permits for other than construction was 242. The fees collected on permits issued amounted to $17,921. Building projects on which permits were issued included an industrial building for Industrial Lease-Back Corp., 30022 Beverly Rd., Romulus for $100,000, an industrial building addition in Romulus for Star Tool and Die Works, 2703 23rd St., Detroit, a terminal addition at the Metropolitan Airport by the Wayne County Road Commission, operators of the airport, for $1 million, and a $12,000 industrial building in Romulus for Frank Gurney of 15748 Ferdline, Southgate.

Locked in car at Metro Airport

Police hunt couple's kidnapers

An intensive manhunt was underway today for two men accused of locking a suburban doctor in his car trunk at Metropolitan Airport in Romulus after escaping with $10,000 in cash which they forced the doctor to withdraw from a bank.

The armed, masked men held the doctor and his wife prisoners in their home overnight Sunday. Neither of the victims -- Dr. Max K. Newman, 62, of Bloomfield Township, or his wife -- was harmed during their night-long ordeal, said Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas.

The intruders were foiled in their efforts to get another $100,000 from the doctor's checking account as the bank to which they had taken him refused his request for two $50,000 cashier's checks made out to cash. Instead, the banks made the checks out to the doctor.

The methodical kidnapers made the doctor wear an electronic device into the bank so they could hear his conversations with bank officials as he sought to withdraw $110,000 from his checking and savings accounts.

When the physician emerged from the bank with the $10,000 in cash and the two checks, the gunmen forced him to accompany them in his car toward Romulus.

On the way, they stopped and made him get into the trunk of the car which they then parked at Metropolitan Airport. The doctor waited a while and then began pounding on the inside of the trunk with a tire iron, finally attracting the attention of an Avis Co. employee who pried the trunk open.

Dr. Newman told authorities his wife was still handcuffed in the basement of their Bloomfield Township home and police rushed to free her.

Sheriff Lucas said the kidnap-robbery began about 11 p.m. Sunday when the two men forced open a back door of the Newman home. The Newman's, who had been asleep, were forced into the basement of the home and were handcuffed while the robbers systematically looted the house of $200 in small bills and miscellaneous valuables.

Lucas said the doctor and his wife were kept prisoners all night. At midmorning the two men ordered the doctor to get into his car with them and drive to his bank in suburban Southfield.

After wiring the doctor with the electronic eavesdropper, the two told him to go into the bank and get the $110,000.

When Dr. Newman came out with the $10,000 and the two checks, the men drove off with him. Police later found the two checks torn to shreds on the floor of the doctor's car.

The Newmans declined to talk with newsmen Monday night after they were reunited at their home.

Several police agencies joined the hunt for the gunmen. One theory was that they might have taken a plane from the airport. But FBI officials said they had not been asked to take part in the investigation.

"As a rule the FBI does not enter kidnaping cases unless the victim has been missing over 24 hours or has been taken across a state line, but we will cooperate in every way with their police units in the hunt," an FBI spokesman said.

Committee joins anti-busing group

The Huron Township Citizens Committee has become an affiliated chapter of National Action Group (NAG), an anti-busing organization, it was announced.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Olga McDavid and Mrs. Doris Hartsuff issued a joint statement Monday saying:

"We are in full support of their mutual efforts to maintain the neighborhood schools while insuring equal educational opportunities to all members of our community.

"We presently join NAG in circulating petitions to help solve the current controversy over busing.

"We will work toward restoring full authority to the local school board to work and use our schools for the only purpose they were ever intended-education.

"We parents refuse to have our children bused to other areas."

The National Action Group was spearheaded by Pontiac anti-busing protests.

War book is published by historical group

There is no Toledo, Mich., except in the title of a new book just published: "The Rise and Fall of Toledo, Michigan... The Toledo War."

The book, published by the Michigan Historical Commission, was written by Sister Mary Karl George, president of Mercy College, Detroit.

Wars can be brutal, but this was not the case in the conflict of 1835. A wounded mule, garden theft and soiled uniforms were the most serious casualties of the war, and for several months the threats of invading hordes from Ohio (and Michigan) held the border communities in suspense.

Although seemingly a series of comic events, the Toledo War led to significant boundary conclusions that are still unsettled. The Toledo Strip, that rich corner of northwestern Ohio, was awarded to Ohio, and for compensation the young territory of Michigan had to settle for a huge slice of the Upper Peninsula, referred to by man as North America's ice-box. Still to be settled is ownership of the submerged lands of Lake Erie near Toledo, known to contain valuable oil and mineral deposits.

This 84-page book has many useful maps, plus illustrations of the famous "Boy Governor" Stevens T. Mason, the Ohio turncoat-patriot Two Stickney, and many others.

The book sells for $1.50 and is available from the History Division, Department of State, Lansing 48918.

Operation to continue for school closings

A Michigan system for relaying accurate, timely information on weather-caused school closings will be effective again this winter as a continuing pilot operation, Col. John R. Plants, State Police director, reported Monday.

Plants said experience indicates the system worked very well in its first season last year.

Participants include private, public and parochial schools, the Michigan Department of Education, police agencies, radio and television stations, the federal Environmental Science Services Administration (ESSA), the Michigan Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN), and the State Police.

Participation by school districts is voluntary. Those who elect to participate notify a selected LEIN station (police) of the operational status of their schools.

The LEIN station will transmit the information to the network headquarters at the State Police in East Lansing.

There it will be validated, then relayed through the State Police operations office over the ESSA network to radio and television stations.

Those stations will then broadcast the information on the schools in their areas several times between 6 to 8 a.m.

To expedite the collection and processing of school status information, a code system is used as a security measure for identifying school districts and the various classes of operational status. The code will not be used publicly.

License awarded to Ramada Inn

At a previous council meeting, Councilman Bizak had made a motion to indefinitely postpone the issuance of all liquor licenses until the council and the administration could meet and study the applicants for the new liquor licenses.

This action of the council was vetoed by the mayor. It takes a 5-2 vote of the council to override the mayor's veto.

Councilman Pennington's request to council last Thursday night was prompted by the mayor's veto of Councilman Bizak's motion.

prohibition against his voting on the issue.

"It is therefore our opinion that the existence of the father-son relationship in and of itself would not preclude Councilman Bizak's voting on the question of liquor licenses with respect to his father or to others. But if special circumstances exist which would, in the opinion of the legislator, constitute undue pressure or cloud his objectivity, the legislator should voluntarily disqualify himself from voting."

At last Thursday's council session, the elder Edmund Bizak appeared before the council and said:

"At no time have I come before this council and argued that I deserve preferential treatment or more than the other applicants. I do expect the same as other applicants are getting."

He told the council he moved into Romulus in 1937 and has been paying taxes for more than 30 years, adding "My son will have no action or partnership in the operation if the liquor license is granted to me."

Romulus building being demolished

The Stanson Wrecking Co. of Belleville and Dearborn Heights has started demolishing 10 vacant and "unsafe" structures — the former Salvation Army barracks located on Middlebelt Road between Wick and Goddard roads Romulus.

Among the structures being torn down is one that was used as a school site for residents of the buildings when they occupied them during World War II.

The demolition of the structures is part of the city's program of ridding the community of vacant and deteriorating structures that are a hazard to the public health and safety.

Under a program approved by the City Council, the property owner is notified to arrange for the demolition of the building within a reasonable time, usually a 30-day period.

Upon failure to do so, the city can initiate demolition proceedings. Bids are requested and cost of demolition is then assessed against the property.

The Stanson Wrecking Co. was the low bidder of among 10 contractors who sought the contract. Stanson's bid was $17,300.

McConeghy to speak on court busing issue

Robert L. McConeghy, superintendent of Romulus School District, will speak at the Area Parent-Teacher Council meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Harrison Elementary School, 14701 Harrison Rd., Romulus.

The topic will be federal Judge Stephen J. Roth's recent call for a school integration plan, which has aroused fears about widespread busing of children between inner-city Detroit and suburban districts of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

According to Council President, Mrs. Fran Petre, a short business meeting will be held.

Time will be allowed for a question and answer session following McConeghy's talk.

Boys will miss scouting if leaders aren't found

There are about a dozen boys between the ages of 8 to 10 years living in the Harrison Elementary School area who are going to miss all the excitement and adventure of cub scouting if den mothers aren't found.

According to activities and achievement chairman Dennis Kedder there are enough boys for at least three dens but mothers for only one.

Anyone in the Harrison area who would be willing to give some time to cub scouting may contact Kidder at 941-4672 or attend the next pack meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 28 in the school multi-purpose room.

Committee joins anti-busing group

The Huron Township Citizens Committee has become an affiliated chapter of National Action Group (NAG), an anti-busing organization, it was announced.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Olga McDavid and Mrs. Doris Hartsuff issued a joint statement Monday saying:

"We are in full support of their mutual efforts to maintain the neighborhood schools while insuring equal educational opportunities to all members of our community."

"We presently join NAG in circulating petitions to help solve the current controversy over busing."

"We will work toward restoring full authority to the local school board to work and use our schools for the only purpose they were ever intended—education."

"We parents refuse to have our children bused to other areas."

The National Action Group was spearheaded by Pontiac anti-busing protests.

Busing leaders speak in Romulus Saturday

Mrs. Irene McCabe, the Pontiac housewife who spearheaded the anti-busing fight that recently closed Pontiac schools and shut down a General Motors plant, will be the guest speaker at a meeting in Romulus Saturday night, Oct. 23.

Quiney, who will share speaking duties with Mrs. McCabe, is president of the Romulus Homeowner's Association, president of the PTSA and a member of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

Kiwanis club celebrates anniversary

The Romulus Kiwanis Club will celebrate its 15th anniversary night at St. Aloysius Catholic Church Hall, located at 11280 Ozga Rd., Romulus.

The birthday celebration will include a Ladies Night. Invitations have been extended to area Kiwanis Clubs to attend the celebration.

Mrs. McCabe and William Quiney will address concerned parents at the Romulus Senior High School at 7:30 p.m. at a meeting sponsored by the Romulus Chapter of the National Action Group.

Among the points raised by the Romulus group is that busing endangers children from traffic, takes away time better spent in classrooms, curtails after-school activities, interferes with parent involvement in schools and PTA and is too expensive.

American veterans to be honored Monday

Veterans' Day will be observed here and in most states next Monday.

This time of remembrance had its beginning as Armistice Day marking the end of World War I on Nov. 11, more than 50 years ago.

It is now the day on which the nation honors all veterans of the armed forces. They should be doubly honored this year for the thankless task of "winding down" the Vietnam War — a conflict in which many of them have participated.

Unlike veterans of previous periods in our history, those returning from Vietnam will find no brass bands awaiting them, but a nation preoccupied with dissension and confusion over economic and social troubles.

These troubles would assume far more reasonable proportions if the respect for our nation, which is implicit in Veterans Day, could enjoy a rebirth.

In years gone by...

A look through The Daily Eagle files at news of Western Wayne County one, 15 and 25 years ago:

25 YEARS AGO

Oct. 20, 1946 — Proposals for the installation of parking meters in the downtown area of Wayne as a method of increasing parking turnover will be considered at the next meeting of the Village Commission Nov. 5.

All veterans receiving subsistence allowance under the so-called "GI Bill of Rights" must file reports of earnings on or before Nov. 5, Wayne Veterans Counsellor Roy Meier said this week.

Special Halloween parties for kiddies and adults, too, in Romulus and Belleville will be held next Thursday evening, Oct. 31. Sponsoring organizations, the Rotary Club in Romulus and the Kiwanis in Belleville, are completing final plans this weekend for the gala festivities.

In Romulus it marks the sixth straight year that the Rotarians have staged this Halloween jamboree with the fine cooperation of business and professional men. Bill Mosher heads the general committee, headed by Joe Lambert and Leon Zolnierczyk.

15 YEARS AGO
Oct. 20, 1956 — The produce merchandising clinic will hold its third session in the Wayne Memorial High school cafeteria next Tuesday night. The topic will be pricing and projection of gross profit figures.

Children who like to make Christmas are given an opportunity at the Dearborn YWCA. Under the guidance of William Benson, the children are helped to execute their own as well as others' ideas, and at the same time taught to distinguish between "cute gifts" and good craftsmanship.

The 15th annual Mom's of America State Convention was held at the Hotel Statler in Detroit, Oct. 17, 18 and 19. Sixty-four delegates, 15 alternates, and 38 guests attended. Wednesday afternoon the women made a tour through the Dearborn V.A. Hospital. In the evening memorial services were held for Gold Star Mothers. The President's reception followed the Gold Star Memorial.

Mrs. Mary McGinnis, of 37550 Huron River Dr. West, was recently selected by the Detroit Association as the "Teacher of the Month" for October. She has taught at the Beard Elementary School in Detroit for 37 years and before that was a student there herself.

ONE YEAR AGO
Oct. 21, 1970 — "I want this community to be in the forefront of a movement to pass a statewide ordinance against pollution," said Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton at the City Council meeting. With his urging, the councilman took the advice of two area residents, and made plans to draft letters to all surrounding communities for a discussion of a Lake County type ordinance.

Inkster City Manager Sylvester Murray paid a visit to the Cherry Hill Board of Education to strengthen what were termed "good relationships" between the city and school governments. Board president Kenneth Pearce told Murray that he was pleased that the Cherry Hill schools had always had a good relationship with the city and expressed a desire to continue to good feelings.

Westland received a "ray of hope" when Donald Wickline, 9, lit the city's official torch to kick off the 1970 United Foundation Torch Drive.

What school officials have labeled an "austerity budget" was adopted by the Cherry Hill Board of Education. The budget totals $3,521,972. This year's budget shows estimated revenues at $3,526,998.98 which leave a sparse balance of $5,026.98.

Reapportionment poses giant task

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK, State Representative, 38th District

The legislature and an assortment of special commissions will, in the months ahead, attempt to work out a giant jigsaw puzzle known as reapportionment.

It was a few years back that the U.S. Supreme Court shook things up by ruling that legislative bodies elected by district had to be elected on a one-man, one-vote basis. This was specifically set down as meaning that each congressman, each legislator and every member of a county board of supervisors (now the boards of commissioners) has to represent as close as possible as many persons as each of his colleagues. In other words, each man has the same right to equal representation as every other man.

This called for periodic reapportionment of districts to reflect shifts in population. The best measure of this is the federal census. There was one such census in 1970 and using this as a base, the job of redistricting is either now underway or will be started soon. The job must be completed in adequate time for the 1972 elections.

Congressional redistricting is a job of the legislature. The 1970 census showed Michigan keeping in step with the rest of the nation in population growth so that the state will continue to have 19 representatives in Congress in addition to the two U.S. senators.

However, there have been changes in population. Some large cities, such as Detroit, show little or no gain in population and in a number of cases fewer people. Many rural areas have dwindled.

At the same time, there has been substantial growth in the suburbs. Therefore, there will have to be adjustments in the congressional districts. This will be one of the big jobs before the legislature in the months ahead.

There will be changes made as well in the districts for Michigan's 110 state representatives and 38 state senators. Many of the old districts, based on the 1960 federal census, have declined in size. Other have grown rapidly, particularly suburban districts.

There are actually cases now in which one state representative represents almost twice as many people as others. This will have to be corrected by legislative reapportionment.

The task is laid to what is known as the legislative Apportionment Commission, composed of an equal number of members appointed by the two major political parties in the state. This commission is already at work. Being evenly split politically, the commission could deadlock, which is what happened last time it tried to redistrict the legislature. Commission members have

Speaking of schools

Who should teach morals, values?

By BYRON K. ANTCLIFF, Superintendent of Huron Public Schools

One of the big traps that many educators have fallen into is believing that it is not the school's job to teach values and morals. It is.

I believe that morals are best defined as the way people treat each other and themselves. There are absolute values by which everyone should live. The biggest of these is that people should judge each of their acts towards others by whether or not they feel they are trying to help the other person as well as themselves.

Many people do this in such a quiet way that it often goes unnoticed. Shirley Finn, social worker at Huron schools is a case in point, as she goes about doing many wonderful, helpful deeds with little fanfare.

As I sat in a restaurant one day recently, I watched people receiving service from those waiting on them. Rarely did I hear anyone say "Thank You." It occurs to me that one reason we do not try to be helpful as we might be in this country is that we have stopped saying "Thanks." As a result most of us feel unappreciated. Yet, I can think of no better feeling I can have than when someone says thanks and I feel appreciated.

Maybe this is one point where we go wrong with young people. We don't give them enough responsibility, thereby robbing them of a chance to be appreciated and feel good.

Speaking of values, there is what promises to be a worthwhile conference for parents and educators to be held in Robert Frost Junior High, Oak Park, Mich. on Oct. 23-24. Sidney Simon, one of the leading thinkers on the need for learning values will be the director. Details can be obtained by calling 753-4421.

It seems that people have always been very good at creating barriers to effective communication, especially between leaders and the groups they represent. Today the easiest way of doing this is to say either, "There is a problem of communication," or "He is too simplistic."

As I recently sat on a jet returning from Washington it occurred to me that the best view of what was going on could be had by sitting on the extreme right or the extreme left, yet it also occurred to me that being on the extremes removes you from the main stream of what is going on. I wonder if this is true of the political extremists.

I suppose they are representing a very worthwhile part of our system to give us feedback from a view that those of us in the main stream are unable to obtain. I think we would be in trouble if the majority of the people were not involved with the main stream of living.

Congressman Bill Ford had an interesting thought regarding the current busing issue. He observed that those individuals who most resent growing federal control are the same individuals who demand federal laws to solve local problems.

While in Washington I took time to visit the U.S. Capitol building. The most impressive part of the building was not its beauty. Rather, it is the openness of the building. Any U.S. citizen can come in off the street and wander through the center of our government.

I think this is one of the great strengths of American democracy. I also can think of no finer way to appreciate American democracy than for students to visit the capitols of government and see our lawmakers in action. It is little wonder that each of us resents secrecy in the public domain when we see the great value of operating openly.

Any questions in my mind regarding the inequality of the present system of school financing were answered when I observed the reaction the wealthy school districts to Gov. Milliken and Attorney General Kelly's recent action. There is no greater proof, to me, concerning the existence of inequality than the fact that the wealthy school districts are extremely concerned that the quality of their programs will be less than it is presently if their program should become the same as those in the poor school districts.

Of course this would be a great tragedy. I think the challenge lies in bringing those who cannot now afford such quality programs up to the level of those who are able to do the outstanding jobs.

Sportsman unhappy with Hart's gun stand

To the editor:

I see where our left-leaning Sen. Phil Hart has managed to get his name in public. Seems as though the sportsman is taking it on the hip these days.

The limousine liberal is going to halt the homicides by removing handguns from civilians hands. According to the uninformed senator, just plain ordinary law-abiding citizens are doing each other in, when in fact 25 per cent were unknown to each other.

Facts are that 82 per cent of those arrested for murder in Detroit have a prior felony or crime involving violence. These people under state and federal law can not own a gun.

The senator also states it's more dangerous to the owner of a handgun than to a felon trying to rob you.

In Detroit alone, 35 felons have been shot by hand gun owners and 48 more homicides called justifiable.

The real problem is urban and until law and order come to the cities we will continue to have a spiraling homicide rate.

Between the preservationists and the anti-gun group the sportsman is being made to look anti-social, when in fact he foots the entire bill for conservation in this country.

These groups don't have to like us but they are damn well going to have to live with us.

Lansing report

Is capitol press room place for cheesecake?

By DON HOENSHELL

Those crisis-oriented interpreters of state government for the media are being forced toward a policy decision on Marilyn Monroe's picture in the press room gallery.

The issue was raised by a red haired secretary who claimed "my parents brought me up to be a proper young lady."

For 18 years the classic calendar photograph showing la Monroe smiling all the way up from her bare feet has gazed conspiratorily down on reporters as they assessed the matters of state.

Marilyn has survived other crises but this one has gone to the summit.

Mrs. Beth Groot, secretary to Sen. James G. Fleming (R-Jackson), says it is offensive, embarrassing to secretaries embarrased to deliver press releases, and extremely uncouth.

"I don't think anyone should walk into an office in the state capitol and be embarrassed by it," she said. "If a man has a need for this let him put it in an inconspicuous place."

"I think my parents brought me up to be a proper young lady and that picture is very offensive."

So now the Michigan Capitol Correspondents Association (MCCD) has got to make a decision, a process even more painful than weighing the wisdom of tax reform, the budget or where to go for lunch.

The whole matter has been referred to the MCCD for further negotiations and a decision.

Marilyn's picture now lies in the bottom drawer of a filing cabinet, waiting, and speculation on the outcome is rampant.

Right now the odds favor the press corps—but nobody is betting against Mrs. Groot.

County employment hinges on stadium--DeSana

The development of Detroit and employment in Wayne County are at stake in the construction of the domed riverfront stadium, according to James DeSana (D), Wayne County commissioner whose 23rd district includes all of Huron Township.

"People say we're going to raise taxes because of this. I don't think this is going to happen," he said recently in a private interview. "I will, however, say this — if it (development of Detroit) moves out, taxes might be raised because the buildings which leave the area to follow the stadium might be of less value on the tax rolls."

It is the commissioner's contention that development will follow the stadium and that this plum is crucial for Detroit's revitalization.

"By building something of this nature," he continued, "where I see the development is going to come around it, it is going to raise the value of property. History will show that where the stadiums are built throughout the country, the value of the property was raised and where it left, the property value went down when they were built someplace else," the former Wyandotte mayor explained. DeSana wants to see companies moving to Wayne county, not to Southfield or to Troy where the push lately has been.

The board recently approved $126 million worth of bonds for the complex contingent on three conditions: obtaining the Tigers as a leaseholder; a hotel-motel tax and revenues from the extended racing season.

"We approved signing that note conditioned on those three things taking place," DeSana explained, adding that if the stadium authority does not get the Tigers' lease, he expects the board's vote will be rescinded.

For DSana, the Tigers are the key to the whole deal. He's not too worried about the Lions because Pontiac doesn't have a feasible study made yet.

The board raised $800,000 for the architect's schematic design. The worth of the project was obvious to the downtown businessman.

"That $800,000 was raised within a matter of less than two months. As a matter of fact the biggest majority was raised within a month," DeSana explained.

The hotel-motel tax is necessary along with the racing revenues to defray the initial cost of the project.

According to a financial analysis, the operating deficit the first two years would be $2.5 million.

"The thing we're trying to tell people is that we're not just building a stadium for the Lions and the Tigers," he said. "We're talking about an all-events stadium that will really benefit the county of Wayne, not just the city of Detroit."

DeSana mentioned that the stadium was not popular in his district, but added, "when I talk to them (those opposed to the project), I get less and less of an opposition."

The county commissioner talked about the peoples' concern "I think that most of the opposition to the stadium is individual personal feelings toward different things and it's a multiplying kind of thing," he explained.

People are not particularly opposed, he said, but they have something else which they think is more important.

"I think one of the things people misinterpret," DeSana said, "is the pledging out faith and credit."

"The same people 15, 20 years ago took the same position on the airport, that we don't want to put any money into the airport because that's private enterprise," the former Wyandotte mayor added. "If people would have taken that same position then, where would we be with the airplane?" he queried.

"There were some tax dollars, believe it or not, put into that airport originally," he added, but there haven't been any added since, he said. "They even pay for their police protection out there; the sheriff's are paid from the operating revenue of the airport; there are no tax dollars," he explained.

"So we have to commend those people who had the foresight to put a couple million dollars worth of seed money into the airport to get it started," he elaborated.

DeSana felt the stadium would help Cobo Hall and make Detroit more of a convention center than it is presently. "Part of the reason the city of Houston gets conventions is because people want to see the Astrodone," he added.

He explained that Houston Hall was built three years after the dome and people now flock to see the man-made wonder.

"Some say," DeSana continued, "build it in Detroit and I'll never be about to use it because it won't be safe."

He felt the situation downtown was getting better. "We're getting ahead of the narcotics situations. It's getting better. It's harder to bring narcotics into Wayne county. We're going to get caught up with crime," he said.

"If this area (downtown) begins to go backward," De Sana analyzed, "these are jobs; really the county of Wayne has a lot to lose if you look at the employment picture."

"I say where the stadium will go, maybe not in a year or two, but I say within three to five years, other developments will be built in and around that stadium which will be competing with Detroit," he said confidently. "I'm taking the positive approach," he said, and one could not doubt his enthusiasm.

PASS IT ON
by L.M. Boyd

If you can't blow your breath at the hurricane velocity of better than 70 mph, don't take up the flute ... Did I mention a shark is the only fish that can blink both eyes? ... Get it right, daschshunds are more popular than beagles now, Labrador retrievers more popular than bassets ... Barring some nuclear nuttiness, one out of every 25 babies born this year will still be alive 90 years from now ... That state wherein you're least apt to get hit by lightning, square mile for square mile, is Rhode Island.

Copy editors on newspaper sometimes "blue pencil" words and phrases and sentences. Meaning they delete same. That term "blue pencil" has been in our jargon for generations. You knew that. But did you know copy editors haven't used blue pencils? Only heavy black pencils. Now a few newspapers are installing special scanning equipment which requires said copy editors to use blue pencils, not black. After all these years, we're finally catching up with our lingo.

Mister, if you want to know how much your head weighs, divide your weight by 12 or 13. That's about it. A girl in search of similar intelligence ought to divide her weight by 15 or 16 ... The manhour cost in manufacturing a car hereabouts is $7 every 60 seconds. In Germany, it's $3.50. In Japan, $1.35. Or so report the money men.

Customer service: Q. "Quick, name the three wealthiest movie actresses in the world." A. That might be Doris Day, Elizabeth Taylor and Audrey Hepburn, multi-millionaires all. Wait, Lucille Ball is in there somewhere, too. Will check further ... Q. "Can your Game man tell me the significance of my name which is Octavia?" A. He says Octavia is the name of the eighth child. Do you have seven brothers and sisters? If not, you ought.

What's a novel? Dr. Samuel Johnson defined it as "a small tale, generally of love." That sounds about right. Ambrose Bierce said a novel is "a short story, padded." Can't buy that. Where's the padding in Carl Sandburg's great novel, printed herewith in its entirety: "Papa loved mama ... Mama loved men ... Mama's in the graveyard ... Papa's in the pen." See, no padding at all.

Am asked to name the richest family in America. Not the richest man, the richest family. That still would be the Mellons. With an estimated total of $4 billion ... Peculiarly, man is the middle. In size, he's halfway between the smallest and the largest mammals, halfway between an atom and a star. Or did you know that?

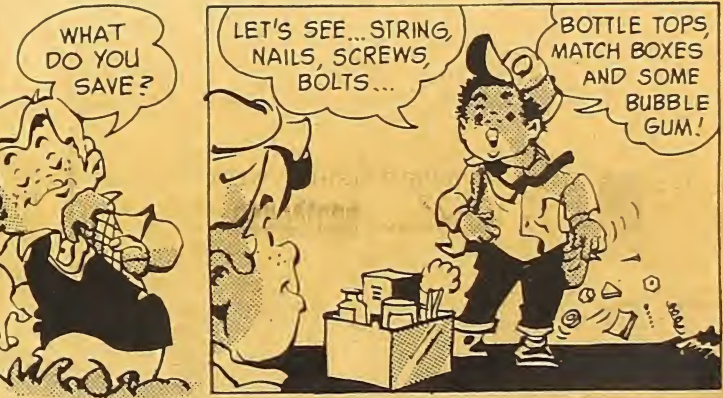

...If you don't think hope springs eternal, how do you account for the fact people who use their credit cards instead of paying cash buy 23 percent more.

Tomorrow's forecast from the Carroll Righter Institute

General tendencies: The morning finds you able to charm others and please them by doing little kindnesses, showing thoughtfulness and giving a present where it is convenient. But you must use a considerable amount of tact and diplomacy, especially in the p.m. Refrain from arguments, be calm. Keep your cool.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Doing something thoughtful for mate in a.m. is wise, but take care that later you do not get into arguments with others. Your intuition is not so good, so do not follow it. Avoid trouble of all sorts.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you explain your ideas to an associate kindly, you find you get good results. Any contracts you have made should not be changed now. Think along logical lines.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Moving is fine for improving surroundings, but use tact later in the day when there are bound to be little annoyances popping up. Don't overwork and spoil your health. Relax in p.m.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Show your devotion to mate in a.m., but do not argue with good friends later in the day. Do not let others talk you into spending more money for fun than fits your budget. Show that you have wisdom.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make sure that plumbing is working well at home and use tact with kin or there could be big arguments later in the day. Get rid of the cause of trouble at home. Do so quietly. Relax tonight.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You're full of pep in a.m. and can get much done, but you are under some sort of tension later, so control yourself. Keep busy at work and forget friends for the time being. Tomorrow is a better day for that.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can do something about adding to your present security even though you feel you are bogged down with bills. Plan to cut down on unnecessary expenses.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you show mate your affection in the morning, you find you can later get right down to work with enthusiasm. Some personal ideas you have are fine, but not to be pursued now. Stick to practical matters for the time being.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't go babbling your plans to kin or others since they are in the mood either to criticize or grab. But do not be afraid to help those who are in distress. Show you are a good Samaritan.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have good news from a real friend which can see you nicely through a rather difficult day. Take the time to eat well. Forget trying to make new friends now since others are too busy with own activities.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some good opportunity presents itself in a.m., but don't take advantage of it until later on when even greater benefits can come from it. Get busy at all those projects you have waiting for you. Don't get panicky about anything.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Closet yourself in your study and work on good ideas and other important work you have scheduled and don't permit others to bother you. A letter may be disturbing in a.m. Do some really objective thinking and you settle the problem quickly.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those fortunate young people whose youth can be comfortable and happy, but do not neglect to give the practical kind of education that will prepare for any possible emergencies or unexpected situations throughout lifetime. Actually any field where trouble-shooting is concerned is best for your enterprising youngster. Much stubbornness here, but responsive to right kind of discipline. Teach to work while young.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you.

Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for November is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Daily Eagle, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

Peggy Fleming stars in 1972 Ice Follies

The 36th edition of Shipstads & Johnson Ice Follies will take over the Olympia Stadium

Tuesday, Nov. 9, for an engagement that will extend through Sunday, Nov. 21. "Everything is Beautiful" is the theme for the 1972 edition of Ice Follies. Colorful production members reflect a myriad of moods, ranging from "It's Still a Beautiful World" to "Let Your Spirit Soar" and "Down on the Bayou", plus several others. The music is up-to-date and up-beat, with the sounds from the Top 40 charts of 1970-71. With split-second timing, solo acts, bits of comedy and production numbers move in and out of the spotlight throughout the evening.

No ice revue is any better than its skaters and included in the Ice Follies cast is Peggy Fleming. She will be making a guest star appearance when the show reaches Detroit.

Appearing with Peggy Fleming and the Ice Follies for the second year will be Charles Schulz's famous beagle, "Snoopy", in his new routine as "The World Famous Skater."

Also included in the cast is Richard Doyer, celebrating his 22nd year with the show; the durable "Dean of Ice Comics", Mr. Frick, who at 57 is a veteran of 33 campaigns; Ron and Cindy Kauffman, North American Pairs Champions; Karen Kresge, Ricky Inglesi and the comedy team of The Three Scarecrows.

PEGGY FLEMING — The skating style which earned Peggy Fleming the U.S. Gold Medal and three-time World Figure Skating Championship will be displayed here when she makes a special guest star appearance with Shipstads & Johnson Ice Follies at the Olympia Stadium. The show opens Nov. 9 for a 12-day run.

Company couldn't cope with this Ionesco play

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Drama Critic

Eugene Ionesco, one of the fountainheads of the absurdist school, has always maintained that bourgeois civilization is insane and his plays are written to prove it. Few playwrights are technically more demanding (remember "Rhinceros") than Ionesco.

The Theatre de Poche Montparnasse faced Ionesco's challenge in their production of "Amedee" or "Comment s'en Debarasser" ("Amedee" or "How To Get Rid of It")—and ducked.

Most of Ionesco's pyrotechnics were drenched in the waters of convenience by a small touring company which performed the play in French at the Detroit Institute of Arts, under the sponsorship of the Institute Theatre Arts Department and the University Center for Adult Education.

Ionesco's Amedee is a bourgeois dreamer who may or may not have murdered a man who may or may not have been Amedee's wife's lover. One thing is certain, the body is still in his apartment 15 years later while Amedee procrastinates about its disposal or a trip to the police. The love between Amedee and his wife, Madeleine, cooped up like hermits for the entire 15 years, has expired under the weight of the burden, represented by the body which has started to grow at an increasing rate until it is taking over the whole apartment.

Ultimately, with body crashing through into his living room, Amedee must drag the giant out his window and down the street to the river. But he escapes his burden by expediently floating off on the transformed corpse which is now supporting him.

Ionesco insists that his fantasies be treated as ordinary behavior; this is the reverse logic to his lunatic world. Hence a set designer is stuck with Ionesco's impossible demands. The company which cannot meet them should pick another play and not brush them aside as did the Theatre de Poche.

Blues guitarist performs Friday at Schoolcraft

Schoolcraft College will be presenting blues guitarist and singer Luther Allison in concert Friday.

Allison, gained some national recognition for himself at the 1969 Spring Concert at Ann Arbor, and at his performance that summer at the First Ann Arbor Blues Festival. In the spring of 1970 he did it again. At both engagements at the Chessmate in Detroit he was held over because of tremendous audience response.

Before Allison started on his own, he took a job as a bass player on Chicago's West Side and before long he was with Freddie King. Now it's Allison as lead guitarist with his own band.

For about five years they played steady at "Walton's Corners" (now Tom's Musicians Club, located on Chicago's West Side). There he became regarded as one of the foremost young bluesmen in Chicago.

Allison is now on tour in Michigan and he will be performing at Schoolcraft College at 8 p.m. in the gym. Tickets are $1 for Schoolcraft students and $2 general public. Tickets may be purchased by mail. Make check payable to: Schoolcraft College 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, 48151 c-o Student Ticket Office. For more information call Linda Trujillo at 591-6549.

Welcome back to Charlotte Trumbull of 36965 Sibley Rd., who is recuperating at home after surgery at Wayne County General Hospital.

Good luck to Sgt. Gary Gorham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gorham of 19325 Wahrman Rd., who left yesterday (Tuesday) for Eklin Air Force Base in Florida for 30 days. He will then leave for Viet Nam.

Riverside Elementary PTO is concluding its membership drive with a $5 award to the room with the most parents that join. The group will have a Parents' Day tomorrow (Thursday) in place of the regular PTO meeting. Each grade has sponsored a cupcake sale to purchase equipment.

The girl scouts have started their meetings and calendars will soon be on sale. Troop 215 is selling nuts to help raise money for camping equipment.

We can be very proud of our loan closet, located at the New Boston Elementary School on Huron River Drive. It has many hospital items to be loaned out to persons in need of them. It also has clothing to be donated to the needy. Emergency money is available and the closet also maintains a referral system which sends persons to different doctors. There is a social worker there on Tuesdays and Thursdays from the Family Neighborhood Services.

The New Boston Methodist Church on Huron River Drive is sponsoring a roast beef dinner Oct. 23 in the church dining room from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. The price of tickets is $2.50 for adults, $1.25 for children. There will also be a bazaar at 2 p.m. the same day.

The Ladies Aide of the New Boston Methodist Church served a dinner recently honoring Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bishop of Bell Road, who will move shortly to Crystal Falls where Mr. Bishop will take over as minister in the Methodist church there.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Veteran's Day, Oct. 25, has changed in meaning and symbol. Once known as Armistice Day in commemoration of cessation of World War I, the day is celebrated now to honor present and ex-service men. Ironically, perhaps this change is for the best, because the hopes that brought on Armistice Day in the beginning, have for the most part, been unfulfilled. We see this clearly as our military men are stationed around the world trying to defend the unfulfilled hopes of Armistice Day.

Veteran's Day is a time to honor the millions of men and women who served, and are serving our country. Nothing we can say can add to the honor they deserve. We hope Veteran's Day turns out to be a time for prayer for peace with honor for all people throughout the world.

Township Fire Hall 2 holds Halloween party

Van Buren Township firemen assigned to Fire Hall 2 are again sponsoring a Halloween Party for area children.

The Halloween celebration will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 31 at the fire hall, located on Ecorse Road, just west of Belleville Road.

Fire Hall No. 2 serves the township area north of the I-94 Expressway. There are 15 volunteer firemen assigned to the area.

Robert Beck, secretary and treasurer of Van Buren Township Fire Department 2, announced Monday that officials of the township administration will serve as judges to select best full costume for the grand prize yet to be announced.

He also announced there will be various Halloween games and programs for the youngsters who will attend the party.

At last year's party about 380 children participated and more than 200 50-cent pieces and other prizes were distributed.

Beck reported that the men at Fire Hall 2 were willing to donate their time and efforts in making sure that area children will have a happy and safe Halloween.

He cited instances of last year where children given candy with pins enclosed and other forms of candy with soap inserted inside while on their "Trick or Treat" can-vassing.

"We want to prevent this from occurring again," Beck said.

He reported that there will be refreshments available for adults in the form of coffee, cider and donuts.

High school's science club takes excursion, runs drive

The Romulus Senior High School Science Club sponsored a trip to the Cranbrook Institute of Science, located in Bloomfield Hills, for students of the chemistry class at the high school.

The September trip began at 9:30 a.m. with a tour of the museum, followed by a 90-minute program at the Nature Center. Students participated in an ecology lesson including some experimentation. In the afternoon, the students visited the Hall of Physics and performed a number of experiments.

Since the institute levies an admission fee, the trip for the students would have been impossible without the club's sponsorship, it was announced.

Sixty-three students participated in the excursion with the club paying for half of the $150 expense.

The science club is presently conducting a fund drive to replenish its treasury. The money will be used to sponsor a Romulus High School Science Fair this February and for its annual scholarship program in June.

The club has purchased several items to be given away as "door prizes" to persons who donate at least 25 cents to the fund.

The first prize in the drawing is a portable color television set. Second prize is an electric-eye "instant load" 126 cartridge camera, film, slide projector, a screen with stand, leather carrying case and a book on picture taking.

The third prize is listed as a "mystery prize."

Member of the club can be reached during the day at 941-2170 ext. 70 for those persons who wish to make donations to the fund.

3. Cards of Thanks

THE FAMILY OF Carl L. Taylor would like to express our deepest gratitude to the staff of the Coronary Intensive Care Unit of Ann Arbor Hospital of Wayne, Mich. In this day and age when we are quick to criticize and slow to praise, we feel it very timely to thank these people who worked so constantly, efficiently, and with great tenderness to save the life of a beloved member of our family, never giving up hope under almost impossible circumstances. Their kindness and warmth to us also, helped us through this most difficult time. Sincerely, Mrs. Carl L. Taylor and family.

Belleville wins 2 cross country titles

Two undefeated teams - individual champs: Belleville and Livonia Churchill had little difficulty chalking up victories in their divisions at the annual Western Wayne Cross Country Invitational on Saturday.

It was Belleville's second major invitational triumph within a week as Coach Ken Head's Tigers also captured the prestigious Redford Union Invitational last Tuesday.

Churchill is undefeated in dual meet competition. Both schools also had the Cross, senior from Belleville, coasted home with an easy win and bettered the old course and meet record by 16 seconds. Up until the time Cross ran this year's race, the old mark had been set by Don Anderson of Garden City West, who ran the 2½ mile Wayne Memorial course in 12:48.

In race one, Belleville's Phil Combs finished behind Cross and Franklin's John Dawe was third. Fourth and fifth places went to Lonnie Clark and John Cicotte, both of Belleville as the Tigers easily won the first race.

Belleville ran away from its rivals in the first race with a total of 21 points. Cherry Hill finished second with 70 and finishing in order from third through sixth were: Franklin, 72, Wayne Memorial, 83, Garden City East, 122, and Annapolis, 171.

Churchill dominated the second race just as Belleville had dominated the first race. Kurtis came home in 12:54 and was followed by two of his team mates who finished second and third. Mark Kobylarz grabbed second place and Randy Saletnik finished third. Fourth place went to Bob Hempel of Garden City West and fifth place was awarded to Bob Faust of John Glenn.

Churchill easily picked up the second race championship with a total of 27 points. Garden City West was awarded second place with a total of 49 and finishing in third through seventh place were: John Glenn, 73, Taylor Kennedy, 105, Taylor Center, 109, Crestwood, 181 and Romulus 214.

Two separate championships were awarded for the races. Both Belleville and Livonia Churchill were presented trophies for their efforts in the annual invitational that is co-sponsored by the Associated Newspapers and The Daily Eagle, and Wayne Memorial High School.

Ribbons were awarded to members of the winning teams while the individual champions were presented trophies. Trophies were also presented to the coach of the respective winning teams, Ken Head of Belleville and Dave Westover of Churchill.

The first 25 finishers in each race were also awarded ribbons.

THEY'RE OFF AND RUNNING Belleville harriers, (at right) bolt from the starting line at Saturday's annual Western Wayne Cross Country Invitational to begin their 2½ mile race which eventually led in their victory. Belleville's premier runner, Jon Cross (No. 1) and Phil Combs (No. 2) provided Coach Ken Head's Tigers with a 1-2 finish in helping their team capture their second major invitational championship within a week. Belleville earlier in the week also won the Redford Union classic.

All about cross country

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

It isn't often that a coach is bothered by the quality of the members of his team.

And it isn't often that colleges refuse to play or meet rivals because "they are afraid" of their opposition's strength.

But that unique situation has eveloped at Aquinas College, where Coach John Flaminio has amassed talent from around the state, including three former harriers from the now dissolved St. Mary's of Wayne High School.

The trio include Ryan Sexton, Pete Lentine and Del Delabbio. All are products of St. Mary's athletic program and have been coached by Len Natkowski and Dick Miller.

Our cohort at the Grand Rapids Press, Vern Plagenhoef writes: "that at Aquinas College there is housed a cross country squad second to none in the West Michigan area. And that's just what bothers Flaminio."

No one wants to take Flaminio's minions on. "One thing I don't want to do," said Flaminio, "is get to the point where schools of comparable size don't want us on their schedule. But I will continue to get the best people I can and if we ever get to the point where are definitely going to dominate our competition year-in and year-out we'll schedule tougher competition."

"After all, what good is it going to do us to be a big fish in a small pond?"

With three standouts as Sexton-Lentine-Delabbio, who are, incidentally, freshmen, the Aquinas coach has already put a down payment on an outstanding future.

Sexton has already established himself as a "blue chip" runner who is seriously eyeing a berth on the U.S. Olympic team.

Not only is the Aquinas coach pleased with the team's performances, but he has high praise for members of the team as for discipline.

"This is as good a group of kids as I've ever had," Flaminio admits.

Speaking of cross country, Doc Kos'eva phoned last night and informed us he "had some great news". And immediately I thought he was about to announce his retirement as a basketball ref - (can't you hear those great sighs from the coaches in this area?)

I was, of course, mistaken.

"Oh, it's nothing like that," confessed the great whistler. "I've been officiating for 30 years now, and if the Good Lord permits it, I hope I can stick around the court for another 30 years."

Anyway, Doc says he went down to South Bend, Indiana to the Notre Dame Cross Country Invitational to watch No. 3

GEORGE BREAZ
From All-Area to All-American status?

Breaz eyes national recognition

Wayne State University senior linebacker George Breaz' hopes for All-American accord grow every week and his being named WSU's "Hitter of the Week" for his play at Northeast Missouri (Oct. 9) doesn't hurt his chances any.

The 6-2 215-pounder from New Boston who prepped at tiny Huron High, was awarded 22 tackling points in the 14-6 loss by WSU Asst. Coach Bob Schroeder who grades the defensive performances from WSU's game films.

(WSU awards two points for a tackle, one for an assist.)

Breaz had five tackles and 12 assists to gain the award for the second week. He had 24 points (7-10) at South Dakota State in WSU's methodical 27-8 win and was third at Ferris State with 22 (4-14) in a 34-6 Tartar triumph.

For the year, WSU's co-captain has 68 tackling points on 16 tackles and 36 assists to command a lead in the race for the coveted "Hitter of the Year Award".

As a spot player on offense Breaz has been a model of consistency. In six carries, he's churned for 40 yards, a 6.7 norm, and three TDs. His best burst has been a 15-yard scoring burst at South Dakota State on one of only two offensive plays he appeared for

Belleville is first at RU

Belleville, undefeated in dual meet competition this season, displayed its long distance running power last night to capture the annual Redford Union Invitational classic.

Coach Ken Head's Tigers were only mildly challenged by Livonia Churchill which trailed the champ, 63-117.

Belleville picked up a second place with All-Area runner, senior Jon Cross, who finished second in the meet which featured 25 high school teams.

Cross trailed Southgate's Dave Burkhart across the finish line. The winner had a clocking of 12:17, while the Belleville runner was second with a 12:21. In the third place was Livonia Churchill's Dennis Kurtis who covered the 2½-mile course in 12:33.

Also among the top 10 team finishes were: Dearborn (137), Livonia Stevenson

What a difference a week makes.

Last week, after an impressive victory over Plymouth, Belleville appeared to have shaken its "also ran image" in the Suburban 8 Conference. This week, a 24-6 loss to previously winless Dearborn, puts Coach

Ogletree from the lineup — for good — it appears that Belleville is in troubled waters

Field goal thwarts Romulus upset plan

A second half offensive letdown combined with a seven-yard field goal with seven seconds remaining shattered Romulus' victory plans at Kalamazoo Hackett Friday night.

Coach George Pratt's Eagles blew a 10 point, 13-3, halftime edge and lost a 18-15 non-league decision to the undefeated Hackett aggregation which is presently 7-0 on the season.

"I'm disappointed that we lost it" said Pratt whose team has another "toughie" this week. "I felt we could have won. But I am proud of the way our boys played, and afterwards their fans came up to me and said, 'We thought we could have named the score against you, but, boy, you really put on a show.'"

It was Romulus that took the initiative in the first half. After Hackett got on the scoreboard early in the second quarter with a field goal, the Eagles retaliated with the ensuing kickoff.

Virgil Smith snared the ball and, getting excellent blocking from Gerald McWhorter, Robin Block and Daryl Gooden, ran 87-yard for a touchdown.

Smith's TD sprint was the longest of the season for Romulus and put the Eagles up 7-3, after Kevin Christensen's extra point attempt materialized. Romulus padded its lead to 13-3 just before the half when John Arrington lunged one yard for six more points.

Arrington's touchdown was set up by a pass interception by Roy Hollis who picked off the aerial at the Hackett 45 yard line and drove it back to the 20-yard line where Smith was forced to use up eight plays before reaching paydirt.

Though the Eagles had the momentum in the early stages of the second half, turning a blocked punt into a two-point safety, they suddenly were picked apart by Hackett's aerial attack.

Early in the fourth period Kalamazoo put together a drive of 70 yards and capped it with a TD pass. Another series of passes, the hosts managed to get the six yard line where Mike Smith plowed over with 4½ minutes remaining from the four.

When Mike Hunter blocked the extra point attempt, the Eagles were alive 15-11.

The ensuing series of plays left Romulus on the Hackett 45-yard line and with one-yard for a first down they elected to play it safe and booted to their hosts' 10-yard line where the winners began their decisive drive that ended with the winning field goal.

the rest of the way. Ogletree, the team's co-captain, was sidelined against Dearborn because of a leg injury and the rugged senior grider may have to undergo surgery to correct the ailment.

"No doubt about it, Vic was one of the leaders on this team," said Emerson. "And without him we will be in trouble."

Emerson was disgusted with last week's performance by his team at Dearborn.

"The fact is we just have to break this Belleville tradition of playing well one week and then being satisfied with ourselves," said Emerson "The season is not one or two weeks, it's eight and nine games."

Dearborn got on the scoreboard in the first quarter with a one-yard plunge by Howard Noland. The Pioneers' 6-0 score stood up for the first half, but added another TD midway in the third period when Mike Oslavar hooked up with split end Mike Muldowner for a nine-yard TD aerial.

The hosts made it 18-0 when Paul Peters scooped up a

After easy pickings at Flat Rock last Saturday night, Huron and Coach Lee Smeltzer, will return to conference warfare Friday night, hosting an always tough Flat Rock aggregation at 7:30 p.m.

"Flat Rock is a much-improved ball club than they were at the beginning of the season," said Smeltzer whose Chiefs now have compiled a 2-3 over-all record after whipping nonleague rival Harper Woods 45-21.

"They play fundamentally sound football and we will have to be ready for them," he said.

Flat Rock will bring into town a 2-2 league record which gives them a fifth place status in the conference.

The slow-starting Chiefs picked up a first quarter TD against Harper Woods when Dan Clark sprinted over from the four-yard line, then tossed their kayo punch in the second period when they tilted the scoreboard for 21 points.

The Chiefs picked up two more TDs in the third and then scored once in the final stanza.

Wayne Kiser, who was one of the leading rushers for the Chiefs against Harper Woods, carried a punt return 35-yards into the end zone for one of two of his tallies. We also scored on a five yard jaunt in the third quarter.

Dana Kemp snared a fumble in mid-air and raced 56-yards for another Chief touchdown while Maloy Conley, who accounted for a two-point conversion earlier in the game, sprinted 45-yards with another punt return for the final six-pointer.

Ray Lloyd scored in the third stanza on a two-yard off tackle run for the other Chief TD.

MAN TO CATCH — Belleville cross country standout, Jon Cross again dominated the Western Wayne Invitational, speeding to an easy individual victory that helped the Tigers win their second invitational within a span of a week. Jim is a former All-State, All-Area cross country man from Livonia Franklin, and is presently a sophomore.

"Do you realize that North Central Illinois has won 27 consecutive dual meets in cross country?" asked Kosteva. "Boy, that's the place to go if one wants to really become a distance runner."

How did Jim make out?

"Gee, I really don't know, I forgot to get his time," said Kosteva.

Don't be so modest, Doc, - you aren't when you have that whistle in your mouth - we know he finished among the top 10 in that invitational, didn't he?

midway in the finale when quarterback Mike Garland and Terry Pate collaborated on a 74-yard run pass play that ended with their lone six-pointer. Halfback Mike Dansard was given a chance to realize the two-point conversion but was stopped short of the goal line.

Dearborn replied with another Oslaver-to-Muldowney TD aerial that covered 59-yards.

Belleville's secondary yielded 104 yards to Dearborn's passers, including two touchdowns. The Tigers also picked up 160 yards on the ground for a total of 325 and had 15 first downs as compared to 150 passing and 103 rushing for a total of 253 for the Tigers. Belleville also had 11 first downs.

The only bright spot on Belleville's defense came in the form of linebacker John Alford, who was the team's leading tackler with 10 solos and three assists.

Allen Park, which is undefeated but tied upon in the league, is next on the "8" menu for the Tigers. The Jaguars have yielded but one touchdown in their four league appearances and that brought the following comment from Emerson:

"They're a great ball club not only on defense but have a tremendous halfback in this Don Trionfi. We will have to contain him offensively in order to win."

Allen Park will be here on Friday at 8:00 p.m.

(160), Farmington (178), Pontiac Northern (186), Redford Union (244), Hazel Park (250), Wyandotte (272), and Garden City West (301).

West suffered a serious setback when its No. 1 runner, Bob Hemple was spiked during the race and had to withdraw. Other area runners who were among the leaders was John Dawe, of Livonia Franklin, who finished 11th. Churchill's Mark Kobylarz was a close 12th, while Randy Saletnick claimed 17th place.

INVITATIONAL CHAMPS — If Belleville harriers soon realize they are unwelcomed at invitational cross country meets, there are two good reasons — Coach Ken Head's Tigers dominated the Redford Union Invitational last Tuesday, then bounced back to win their share of the Western Wayne championship

West is best at WW

Autumn golfing apparently appeals to Garden City West. And to Garden City East's sophomore Paul Reed.

Anyway it did yesterday as Coach Dick Kitzman's Tigers put it all together to win the seventh annual Western Wayne Golf Invitational staged at Salem Hills.

Reed, making his debut in the classic, fired a 83 to nip teammate Jerry Pawlak and Garden City West's Bill Anderson by one stroke for medalist honors.

West, which has won the invitational once before, accumulated a total of 349 strokes to capture first place. Four strokes back with 353 were Belleville's linksman who took runnerup honors.

Garden City East was third with a 356 total and John Glenn compiled 376 which was good enough for fourth while Cherry Hill and Wayne Memorial trailed in fifth and sixth places, respectively, with 383 and 394.

"I told the boys while we were driving up here that a victory at the Western Wayne would be a nice way to cap the season," said West's Kitzman. "And they went out there and did the job for us. I'm really proud at the way they played."

Along with Anderson's 84, the Tigers strung together games of 86 by Mike Dobos, 87 by Don Mullett and 92 from Larry Santavy.

Belleville received a pair of 88s from Chris Birk and Doug Raymond to go along with Steve Burwell's 87, while the Tigers' fourth man, Tom Suliman pulled in with a 90.

Reed earned superlatives from his coach Len Bartlo, who has stepped in to take over the coaching responsibilities from ailing Ralph Davis. Davis has an arthritic condition in his arm that has sidelined him for the season.

"Everything is there," said Bartlo, about the sophomore golfer. "The first time I saw him swing I knew he had it. He has a great future ahead of him in the sport."

Reed, along with the top five finishers, also were named to the Associated Newspapers' All-Area Golf Team. Other members of the mythical squad include Pawlak (GCE), Bill Anderson (GC West), Mike Dobos (GCW), and Terry Lemieux (WM).

A three-way for the sixth place remains unresolved between Steve Burwell, (Belleville), Don Mullett (Garden City West) and Kirk Medlyn (John Glenn) who all shot 87s.

It was the first time the annual classic was held in the fall and it was also the first time that Livonia Franklin was absent from the scene.

Franklin, the defending champ, was unable to field a golf team this year because of an austerity program by the Livonia board of education. Also invited, but unable to attend for the same reason was Livonia Churchill.

In separate flights for coaches and athletic directors Wayne Memorial Coach Norm Boyea won with an 83, while Belleville's Pary Hidenfelter wound up with a 91 which was the best score for the ADs.

Priest says Catholics can object to service

A Catholic not only may but he must claim exemption from military service if he comes to the conclusion that his participation in a war would be immoral.

This statement has surprised many, according to the Rev. Father Thomas F. Hinsberg. He is the director of the newly formed Archdiocesan Commission of World Justice and Peace. "Most are familiar with the teaching which justifies a person serving in the armed forces when he believes his country's cause is just," Father Hinsberg said. "But the fact that conscientious objection is legitimate for Catholics is a surprise to a great number."

The subject is somewhat complicated Father Hinsberg points out. He recommends that those interested read the statement made to Congress last March by Msgr. Marvin Bordelon, director of the US Catholic Conference

Department of International Affairs.

"I will gladly provide a copy to anyone who requests it," he said. The address is Commission of World Justice and Peace, 305 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, 48226.

"The Catholic teaching regarding war and conscience should be better known," Father Hinsberg commented. "The bishops at Vatican Council II and the American bishops in their 1968 pastoral letter 'Life in Our Day' have supported conscientious objection as a legitimate position for a Catholic."

Father Hinsberg pointed out that in the first three centuries the church refused to allow any of her members to serve in the military. While there have always been Catholics who held to that tradition, the opinion that military service was allowable and even laudable has prevailed for many centuries.

"In speaking of conscientious objection, distinctions must be made between pacifism and selective conscientious objection," he said. "A Catholic pacifist is one who is convinced that the Gospel imperatives of love and brotherhood exclude the use of organized violence. This is a legitimate position for a Catholic. It is the position of the early Church."

"A selective conscientious objector is one who though he may not be opposed to all war has decided that his participation in a particular war like the war in Southeast Asia would be immoral. In the Catholic tradition he could come to that conclusion on the basis of the 'just war theory' a set of guidelines established by St. Augustine in the fourth century," Father Hinsberg explained.

"This theory says that in order for a war to be just, it must be fought for a just cause, by legitimate authority, with the hope of attaining a greater good than the harm done and with guarantees of immunity for the civilian population. If any of these conditions is violated the war cannot be held to be just, and if a young man, after serious investigation, comes to the conclusion the war is immoral, then he cannot participate."

Father Hinsberg stressed that this was not a new teaching. "The church has always taught that every human being is obliged to follow his own well formed conscience," he said. "The Church hierarchy has ordinarily refrained from making public pronouncements on the morality or immorality of a particular war. The principles are taught and the individual is urged to form his own conscience."

"The present draft legislation," Father Hinsberg added "does not allow for selective conscientious objection. This is a denial of freedom of conscience. A person who follows his conscience and decides he cannot fight in a particular war is condemned either to imprisonment, exile from his country or a violation of his conscience. This is unjust."

18-year-old become legal adults on Jan. 1

One of the most significant accomplishments of the 1971 Michigan legislative session was the Age of Majority Act of 1971, reported Michigan's Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelly. The act is scheduled to take effect on Jan. 1.

In the broadest terms, the act provides that persons at least 18 years of age shall have the same legal rights and duties as persons 21 years of age or older. It supercedes all state statutes which provide otherwise.

Among the many changes which the new law will effect in the status of 18-year-olds, the following are notable:

Such persons may sue or be sued on their own behalf, without the appointment of a special guardian.

The earnings of unmarried persons 18 or older are no longer subject to parental control, nor are such persons entitled to support from their parents.

Persons over 18 years of age may purchase and be served alcoholic beverages, and may frequent places where such beverages are served.

Such persons may place bets at pari mutuel windows, and may be licensed to operate poolrooms, bowling alleys and dance halls.

If injured in the course of employment, they may apply for workman's compensation benefits. If otherwise eligible, they may apply for welfare benefits.

The Michigan Age of Majority Act should not be confused with the 26th Amendment to the United States Constitution, which became effective on June 30, 1971. That amendment conferred upon persons at least 18 years of age the right to vote in all federal, state and local elections.

Since state law provides that registered voters may serve on juries, persons 18 years of age are now eligible to serve on juries in Michigan.

The Age of Majority Act, in short, will make all Michigan residents who are at least 18 years of age full-fledged legal adults.

Ford opposes busing, wants districts protected

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has expressed his opposition to the concept of busing school children to achieve racial balance in public schools.

Congressman Ford, a member of the House Education and Labor Committee, termed mass busing "an unacceptable, ineffective and self-defeating means of attempting to provide equal educational opportunity."

The problems confronting education and society could better be solved by providing local school authorities with sufficient financial support to assure quality education in neighborhood schools," he declared. "This has been my consistent position on working for the passage of education legislation during my seven years in Congress."

Congressman Ford recalled that, five years ago, he helped amend the Elementary and Secondary Education Act to prohibit any federal administrative agency from requiring "the assignment or transportation of students or teachers in order to overcome racial imbalance."

"This amendment was adopted at that time, and I have made certain that it has remained in the act since that time, most recently just last April, when the 1971 amendments were written," he recalled.

The Congressman joined last week with his Michigan colleague, Representative James G. O'Hare, in sponsoring an amendment in the Education and Labor Committee to preserve the neighborhood school concept.

"Our goal was to write into the law a provision that would protect school districts which had drawn attendance lines on a racially non-discriminatory basis to permit children to attend the school nearest their homes."

Minister attends school

Among the more than 400 ministers attending the recent Michigan United Methodist Pastors School held on the campus of Adrian College, Adrian, Mich. was Pastor Rev. Charles Dibley of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

The Michigan United Methodist Pastors School for 1971 was designed primarily to keep clergymen abreast of new thoughts and methods relevant to their work.

Another purpose of the school was to expose the ministers to a campus environment.

Carolyn Gasparin weds

Conklins honeymoon in Smokey Mountains

Carolyn Louise Gasparin and William Richard Conklin were united in marriage at St. Stephen's Catholic Church, New Boston, and later rode to their reception at the Romulus Progressive Club in a horse and buggy driven by Walter Maciejewski.

A honeymoon through the Smokey Mountains, Lookout Mountain, Cumberland Falls, and Ruby Falls followed after which the newlyweds took up residence at 22 Pine Drive, Suburban Estates, Belleville.

The Rev. Alexander J. Wytrwal officiated the double ring rite at five in the afternoon.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gasparin of 36700 Goddard Road, Romulus, the bride was escorted up the aisle by her father.

FOR HER WEDDING day, she chose a floor-length creation of Chantilly lace designed with a bouffant, hooped skirt which cascaded into a six-foot train. The little fitted bodice, studded with seed pearls, was fashioned with a square scalloped neckline and long, wristpoint sleeves.

A flower-shaped headpiece secured her four-tiered illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, ivory roses, and yellow baby's breath centered with a detachable corsage.

Maid of honor was a girlhood friend, Diane B. Meland of Romulus and bridesmaids were Mrs. Marianne Scarborough of Garden City and Mrs. Lois Reaume of Taylor, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Debi Maciejewski of Romulus; Virginia Wickham of Warren, a cousin; and Michelle Garduno of New Boston.

THEIR YELLOW gowns, designed in toe-touching length, were accented with green, yellow and orange trim and featured floor length draped capes at the shoulder. The honor attendant carried a colonial-shaped bouquet of white carnations, yellow roses, and yellow baby's breath while the others held similar flowers in teardrop design.

Eight-year old Lori Ann Frink wore a mint green frock in floor-length for her role as flowergirl and carried a basket of roses, carnations and daisies.

Michael Kitze, eight, carried out the duties of ringbearer.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conklin of 25887 Rust Road, New Boston, asked his best friend, Dennis P. Jakab, to be best man. The corps of ushers included Dayton Scarborough of Garden City; Don Reaume of Taylor; Walter Maciejewski of Romulus; Jim Horst of Belleville; and Jeff Conklin of New Boston.

A formal gown in pink with pink and red trim was chosen by Mrs. Gasparin for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was comprised of pink carnations and red roses. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a blue floor-length gown with blue and green trim. She was presented with a corsage of white carnations tipped in blue and ivory roses. Way to ideal teen figure

By MARY SUE MILLER

Of all teen appearance problems, the universal one is how to lose weight. Dieting is such a drag, or so most teens believe. But it need not be. Not if you get your head straight on the subject. There's where a doctor's advice would be helpful, particularly for a girl who has to lose upwards of 20 pounds.

Otherwise, try these ideas on for size - a smaller size:

1. E-a-t-three regular meals daily. Eat hearty of meat, fish, poultry, eggs, skim milk, leafy green vegetables and raw fruit. Be strong, go easy on all sweets, starch foods, fats and fries. The plan is healthy and resultful. Your calorie total runs about 2,200 daily. With that count you don't starve, you do lose.

2. As snacking is the greatest threat to weight losses, cultivate low-cal types - unsweetened fruit juices, no-cal soft drinks, fresh fruit, cheese tidbits, thin pretzel sticks. Right here you can take off one pound per week.

3. Use these appetite foilers: Never skip breakfast; sip a glass of water or low-cal drink before dinner; eat very slowly. In such ways you will want for less food. Honestly! 4. Get all outdoor exercise possible. To trim heavy spots, take to spot exercise. Activity burns fat calories and smoothes bulges. Also make a point of good posture. It's natural exercise. Get with it!

Ely-Lee nuptials are solemnized in Allen Park

In a candlelight ceremony recently at the Angelica Lutheran Church in Allen Park, Darlene Lee became the bride of Dan Ely. The six o'clock nuptials united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Lee of 18124 Morton Avenue, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Ely of 15017 Cleveland, Allen Park.

The Rev. Elmer E. Beyer read the double ring rite before an assembled 150 guests after which they adjourned to the church hall for the reception which followed. Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a formal-length gown of off-white chiffon styled with an oval neckline and full, long sleeves. Multi-colored flowers were used to accent the neck and sleeves.

Her shoulder-length veil was caught to an off-white chapel cap and she carried a cascade of white carnations centered with white baby roses.

AS HER SISTER'S honor attendant, Mrs. Walter Rochowiak of Belleville donned a floor-length frock of turquoise chiffon with bands of lace applique forming a deep V from the round neck to the lifted waistline. The same lace was used to cuff the long full sleeves.

Her headpiece, a flower-shaped design, was accented by a short veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of white baby mums tipped in turquoise.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Joe Ely of Allen Park, and ushers were fraternity brothers of the bridegroom, Ron Samuel and Jim Harden.

Mrs. Lee chose for her daughter's wedding a blue peau de soie sheath dress with matching shoes while Mrs. Ely donned an A-line frock of yellow peau de soie with matching shoes. Both mothers were presented with carnation corsages to harmonize with their outfits.

The new Mrs. Ely is a 1964 graduate of Belleville High School and prior to her marriage was employed at Eastern Michigan University's Purchasing Department.

The bridegroom, who was graduated from Allen Park High School in 1966, earned his B.S. degree at E.M.U. in January of this year. He was affiliated with Phi Mu Alpha Fraternity and is currently serving with the U.S. Army in California. The newlyweds honeymooned enroute to the West Coast where they are now residing in Seaside, California.

Betty Dickerson, James E. Easley exchange vows

Two large sprays of white cushion mums tipped in orchid and white snapdragons adorned the altar of St. Anthony's Catholic Church October 9 as Betty Lou Dickerson and James E. Easley exchanged wedding vows and rings.

The Rev. Raymond J. Skonec presided at the five o'clock ceremony with 150 guest in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Dickerson, Jr. of 1161 Sumpter Road, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Easley of 90 Chaney Street, Belleville, are parents of the young couple, both 1970 graduates of Belleville High School.

APPEARING in a gown made by her sister, Mrs. Don Renton, the bride was escorted to the sanctuary by her father. White eyelet organza was used over white satin crepe to fashion the dress which was styled with an empire waistline, rolled satin neckband, and long V cuffed sleeves.

Her elbow-length veil was secured by a pearl-studded crown and she held cascading white rose buds and baby's breath intertwined with ivy.

Rebecca Underwood of Belleville was her best friend's honor attendant and bridesmaids were all sisters of the bride: Mrs. Don Renton, and Connie, Carol and Jane Dickerson, all of Belleville.

Their high-waisted frocks in formal length were fashioned with scoop necklines, gathered skirts and long, billowy sleeves. Miss Underwood's dress was in royal purple with lavender trim with just the reverse for the attendants. They wore daisy crowns in matching color and carried white mums tipped in lavender with accents of baby's breath and greenery.

FRANK HARRISON of Belleville was asked to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Bob Polizin, Larry Bell, Gerald Dickerson, the bride's brother, all from Belleville; and Gene Brady, the bridegroom's cousin from Detroit.

At the reception, which followed at the P.N.A. Hall, Mrs. Dickerson greeted guests in a dress of apricot crocheted lace over taffeta to which she added her silver-trimmed white carnation corsage. Mrs. Easley chose for her son's wedding a white brocade shift with companion coat. Her corsage of white carnations was trimmed in gold.

For traveling northward to Cadillac, the new Mrs. Easley changed to a turquoise and grey suit. The newlyweds are now at home to friends at 206 Main Street, Belleville.

The bridegroom is an employee of Draw-tite, Belleville, and his bride works at Little Caesar's Pizza Parlor in Wayne.

The Hastons

Living examples of golden rule

By LEESMITH
Women's Editor

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haston, Sr., who reside in neighboring Willis at a small farm on McKean Road, marked their golden wedding anniversary October 2. The golden glow, in this case, extends far beyond the fact that they've chalked up 50 years of togetherness for they've brought more than a little sunshine into the lives of many a person who's been down-in-the-dumps or down-on-his-luck over the years.

Residents of Willis for some 18 years, the Hastons have shared their home and surroundings with youngsters from the Lutheran Home for the Deaf in Detroit for practically all those years. In fact Mrs. Haston (fondly known as Rosie) received a birthday call last week from one of her former 'adopted' children wishing her a happy 77th birthday -- the deaf-mute girl in Pennsylvania communicating through sounds which Mrs. Haston recognized at once.

LOOKING BACK over the past five decades we learned that the Hastons were instrumental in finding jobs for people during the depression many of the group coming from Northern Michigan. One such person Mrs. Wendell Phillips of Dearborn, is among those to have been given shelter and an encouraging pat on the back when things looked glum. In fact, at one point when she became overly despondent and homesick, Mr. Haston put her in his car and drove her back home -- all the way to Dowagiac! (There were no expressways then, remember.) In the 39 years that Mrs. Phillips has known her mentors, she has never failed to show up the day of Mrs. Haston's birthday with a decorated cake gift and best wishes.

Mrs. Haston, who operated a little spot in Dearborn labeled "The Thimble Shop" about 35 years ago not only took the time to seek out work for those who came knocking at her door but also took on the task of finding rooms and accommodations for visiting bandmen. Having her home near Westwood Gardens (a swinging dance pavilion of that era which boasted all the big names including the Dorsey Brothers) she made her services available to the band leaders and members alike in finding sleeping quarters. (Motels and hotels were few and far between back then.)

HONEST TO GOODNESS humanitarians, the Hastons played still another role for those who found themselves far from home during the holiday season. Taking the part of grandparents-by-proxy, they saw that each little child involved with being away from family at such a nostalgic time, was given a gift from "Grandpa and Grandma" Haston. One Christmas Day and Eve of that particular season we learned, they did nothing but deliver presents to their 'little ones.'

Although Mrs. Haston suffered a broken hip and has to rely on a walker to get around she doesn't let that hamper her enthusiasm and generosity. She and her husband still have time to share their days with those who happen by. They also enjoy the nearness of their son and daughter-in-law, Robert and Joanne Haston, who are their immediate neighbors, and the company of their two granddaughters and grandson.

Retired from General Motors for the past 10 years, Mr. Haston still does odd jobs for his friends and neighbors -- using his farm equipment to cut hay, do a bit of plowing, or just giving a helping hand. The motto it seems by which Bob and his 'Rosie' live.

Light frosts usually kill beans, tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, egg plant, okra, sweet potatoes, squashes, pumpkins, muskmelons and gourds, according to horticulturists at Michigan State University.

TRIO ENTERTAINS — The Bonanni sisters, Sharon, Diane and Linda, were featured entertainment at District XV Fall Meeting of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held October 9 at Sheraton Metro Inn. Harriet Myer, State Vice-president of Michigan B.P.W. Federation; Joyce Mallory, State Nominating Chairman; and Past State President Georgia Galeas, were in attendance at the conference. The Belleville B.P.W., which was co-host with the Wyandotte Club, won the Nike Trophy for the highest percentage of club members in attendance.

Recycling on appliances advocated

A household revolution is being advocated by George A. Davies of Michigan State University.

"The time is right for an absolute all-out packaging revolt by Mr. and Mrs. Consumer," said Davies, a consultant to industry in education, management, packaging and materials handling. "Householders throw away more than 40 percent of the household items and foodstuffs they bring home from the supermarket, while only 1 percent of their carry-home purchases from the farmer's market."

"Consider, for example," said Davies, "that the product cost in a jar of mustard or ketchup is less than 10 percent of your purchase cost. The jar, label, lid, merchandising, delivery and retailer's profit account for the rest."

"The box of cereal that will retail for 36 cents will have a product value of less than six cents," he said, "and an aerosol container always costs more than the product it holds."

Davies believes that the place to get the strongest foothold on product disposal is in the high volume, high tonnage area of "indestructibles," such as automobiles, appliances, trucks and machine tools.

He proposes a national depository of revenue at the time of consumer possession that would guarantee ultimate disposal, and, where practicable, recycling.

"The housewife can wield the strongest influence here," Davies said, "especially considering that an average family will generate 3,000 empty containers, 1,600 pounds of newspaper publications and 1,500 pounds of obsolete or unrepairable steel products each year."

Davies predicted that householders would be required to segregate their trash into containers for glass, metal, plastics and paper.

"Such segregation will make trash collection handsomely profitable for reclaimers," he said, "because of its ready conversion to useful by-products."

"Glass, for example, can be crushed and used to manufacture building materials such as blocks, bricks, wall board and highway surfacing in place of aggregates," Davies said. "Paper can be recycled and reappear as wrapping paper, shopping bags, etc."

Davies also emphasized the reduction of nonfunctional hardware in initial manufacture.

"There's really no operational or functional value for those five porcelainized sheet steel sides on your household washer, drier, or refrigerator," he said. "These appliances can be built-ins and need only the front access openings to be decorative."

Davies said that such appliances could have wooden or composition sides and tops that would be reusable on the replacement appliance.

Davies criticized manufacturers for "building in obsolescence or rapidly deteriorating parts."

"The appliance that can outlast your home can be built now, with no appreciable increase in the cost of production," he said.

Treat 'old' vegetables to a new face-lifting

To put some zest in vegetable dishes, camouflage "ordinary" vegetables with a new recipe, says Anita Dean, extension foods specialist at Michigan State University.

The boil-and-butter method can be supplemented by stir-frying, foil-grilling and sauteeing, she says.

Vegetables can be pressure-cooked, pickled, baked or raw. They can be left whole, sliced at angles, shredded, diced or mashed.

Or try stir-frying, an Oriental method of fixing broccoli, green beans, asparagus, cauliflower or sliced celery. Place the vegetable in a skillet with a heated mixture of salad oil and water, cover and shake over a high heat for two minutes. Add seasoning and soy sauce, if desired, and shake for two minutes more. In four minutes, you have a crisp and tasty vegetable dish.

Foil-grilling is a great complement to charcoal-grilled meats, Mrs. Dean says. Sprinkle frozen vegetables with seasonings and wrap them by the serving in pieces of heavy foil. Then grill (three inches over hot coals) for 25 to 30 minutes.

Pickled vegetables - carrots and zucchini, for instance - are easy to prepare ahead of time and serve at the last minute.

Once you've introduced your family to oven-sauteed celery, asparagus, onions or green beans, try eggplant, zucchini and okra: fixed the same way, the specialist says. Dip long, thin pieces of vegetable in a milk and egg mixture, and then into seasoned bread crumbs. Put them in a shallow layer in a baking pan and drizzle salad oil over the top. Bake for about 15 minutes at 400 degrees.

Kemps are honored at anniversary dinner

THE CHARLES DORINS of S. Biggs Street entertained at dinner Tuesday, October 12, in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mary's sister and brother-in-law, Sadie and Hugh Kemp of Belleville Road. Also offering congratulations to the couple were another sister and brother-in-law, the Dan Ciocons, and their two daughters, Ruth and Jane, from Dearborn.

The Dorins, who were attendants at the autumn wedding in 1946, also served a specially-made anniversary cake later in the evening as the group reminisced over pictures of the wedding as well as other family photos.

Festival set for caverns

STANTON, Mo. (AP) — A country-western singing festival will be held at Meramac Caverns here Nov. 12.

Some 3,500 people are expected to join in community singing.

"They can sing as loud as they wish," says cave director Lester B. Dill. "No neighbors will complain."

Clean car tips

If you're feeling frustrated about pollution, don't despair. There are things you can do. Start by cleaning up your car; autos are a major source of dirty air.

American Oil Co. suggests a four-step car-care program. Keep your car perfectly tuned; an untuned engine runs poorly and adds to pollution. Have the exhaust emission control systems serviced regularly. Use a lead-free gasoline; that doesn't mean "less lead," since every little bit of the metal contributes to pollution. Finally, check with your service station if you have any feeling at all that your car is contributing to dirtying the air.

Methods of avoiding heart attack to be outlined

Heart forum scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow

Who needs it? You need it. What is it? It is the free public heart forum to be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Belleville High School, 501 W. Columbia Ave.

If you don't have tickets, come anyway. There will be room for all.

The heart forum will have three speakers and two short color movies. Subjects include proper diets, "You Are What You Eat," high blood pressure and the game of "Risko," designed by the Michigan Heart Association to emphasize the nature of the habits and medical conditions which can bring on untimely heart attacks and-or strokes.

The speakers are Mrs. Dianne Batch of Grosse Isle, a registered dietitian at Riverside Osteopathic Hospital; Dr. William L. Hailer, a Trenton osteopath; and Dr. S. Phillip Grillo, a Belleville physician.

The heart forum is sponsored by the Southern Wayne County Unit of the Michigan Heart Association, a United Fund agency, and co-sponsored by the Belleville Enterprise.

The housewife and civic leader who will open the heart forum detailed some of the motives that drive a woman to become the spark-plug of a campaign to reduce the toll of heart attacks and strokes.

"I needed something to do beside keeping house and caring for two self-reliant children and a husband," says Mrs. Janet Lively of Southgate, chairman of the Southern Wayne County Unit of the Michigan Heart Association.

"Then somebody - I don't remember who - got me interested in the cause of heart attacks. The figures - it kills one million Americans, including almost 50 thousand Michigan people a year - shook me, and I found myself up to my ears in heart affairs. There was so much to do."

Her mother, Mrs. Mary Bowman of Wyandotte, suffered a very serious heart attack two years ago. She was hospitalized for 9 weeks and she recovered, thanks to modern medical techniques and to her own strong disposition. Mrs. Bowman is chairman of the forum's planning committee.

"Realizing the special danger heart disease offers to American men also affected me" she said. Of her husband, an average American except for his first name, Zenis, she said, "I love this guy and want to keep him around with me as long as I stay around."

He participates in a family physical fitness program, including swimming and ice skating and bicycle riding and gets checked by a doctor once a year - but when hockey and football come on television or games are played at home, Mrs. Lively often finds herself that well-known figure, the sports widow. Lively works for Detroit Edison Co., maintaining and constructing high tension equipment, in power houses and sub-station.

The family, which includes daughters Randee, 15 and a sophomore in Southgate High School, and Audree, 10, fifth grade at Chormann Elementary School, and a picturesque Afghan hound, spent this summer in a trailer home at Detroit Edison's Belleville Pointe Association camp on Edison Lake.

"Belleville is a lovely town," she says. "And we hope to spend our summers there from now on."

"I practice what I preach," says Mrs. Lively, "and I do a great deal of preaching. I use low fat milk, and I serve desserts that are low in cholesterol and in calories, too. I use both American and Michigan Heart Association recipes for my cooking. I have tried most all their recipes - from salad dressing to cookies - and I think they are all as good as regular recipes and some are better.

"I am convinced that if the public is educated to avoid the risk factors of heart disease and stroke, the cardiovascular death and sickness statistics would be reduced," she says firmly. "I follow the rules because I just don't want a heart attack or stroke or the other miseries happening in my family - not to my husband, not to myself and not to either of my daughters."

Church dinner

Folks of the community are invited to attend a roast beef dinner and bazaar which will be held at the United Methodist Church, Huron River Dr., New Boston on Saturday, Oct. 23.

The family style dinner will be served from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Admission is $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for children.

Revenue sharing law is "most significant"

The revenue sharing law recently approved by the legislature and signed by the governor has been acclaimed as one of the most significant accomplishments of the 1971 session, State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D) Romulus, reported Monday.

In recognizing the critical financial straits of so many Michigan cities, the law sets down a new formula that will make more money available to needy urban areas, Mahalak stated.

It will make $23.6 million in additional aid available to local units of government and distribute a percentage of certain state-collected taxes on the basis of local tax effort. Thus, Michigan has become one of a handful of states which share state revenues in other than a per capita basis.

The measure will make about $221.5 million available to local units of government (cities, counties, townships and villages). Counties will receive some $40 million, an increase of $10.5 million. The money comes from the state income tax.

Cities, townships and incorporated villages will receive about $181.5 million. Of that amount, $122.5 million derived from sales tax and intangibles tax collections will be shared on a per capita basis so that each unit will be receive $14.66 per person.

Another $54.4 million which will come from the income and intangibles taxes will be shared on a formula based on local tax burden. Under this system, communities making above average local tax efforts will receive increased shares of state funds.

It will mean payments of from $16.50 to $32.03 per capita. The largest per capita payment will go to the City of Detroit.

The bill also provides for money to insure that no local unit of government will receive less than $16.50 per resident.

The part of the shared revenue distributed under the tax effort plan is designed to grow faster in relation to the per capita revenue so that distributions will be more and more reliant on tax effort," Mahalak said.

"This is possible because the straight per capita portion of the shared funds receives its only increase annually from growth in sales tax collections. The appropriation from the intangibles tax remains the same. The tax effort share will receive 45 percent of the remaining intangibles tax revenues plus increments from the income tax.

A community's tax effort is figured by dividing revenues from local and overlapping taxes by the local state equalized valuation.

A state-wide rate is figured by using the combined local revenues and the total state equalized valuation. The ratio of the local community's rate to the state average rate decides the relative local tax efforts on which payments are based.

Local taxes used in the formula include ad valorem taxes, special assessments, local income taxes and excise taxes.

The law started in the House where it was defeated twice before finally passed, Mahalak explained. "Hopefully the new revenue sharing program will eliminate the need for special state grants such as those made last year for the heavily-taxed cities of Detroit and Hamtramck," he said.

The problem of adequate mass transportation is receiving increase legislative attention, according to Mahalak. Legislative leaders from both the House and Senate are scheduled to meet later this month to discuss a package of transportation bills being prepared for introduction. There will be an effort made to work out a bipartisan approach to the bills.

The proposed legislation includes an increase of 1.3 cents a gallon in gasoline taxes, a $20 million urban transportation fund and a new Office of Urban and Public Transportation within the Department of State Highways.

Meanwhile, in a related area, the Joint Committee on Urban Mass Transportation has scheduled a public hearing for 9 a.m. Oct. 26 in the House chamber at the Capitol.

The hearing will consider new modes of mass transportation.

Construction of jail to begin within 14 months

Michigan Supreme Court justice pays a visit

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners Tuesday reaffirmed its intention to begin construction of a new county jail facility and to undertake renovations of the present jail as soon as possible.

The board voted to begin building a new jail within 14 months and to start extensive renovations on the present Wayne County Jail by Nov. 1.

The action came following two events - a surprise visit to the jail only hours before by Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh, and a meeting of several commissioners with circuit court officials.

Kavanagh found the jail conditions "very bad" and remarked the lack of sanitation "amazed me."

"One of the things that strikes me is the lack of administration," he said after his visit. "There are too many people to take care of and too few people to supervise them."

Early Tuesday morning seven commissioners met with court officials to outline a definite time schedule for the new jail construction and present county jail renovations.

One of the commissioners was James R. McCartney (D-25th), whose district includes Garden City and parts of Westland and Inkster.

McCartney reported that the commissioners informed court officials construction would begin on a new jail by early 1973 and that the location would be known by April, 1972. The commissioner also said County Commission Chairman

Robert Fitzpatrick soon would be appointing a committee of about 30 to 40 citizens, to include county board representatives, to advise the board on public sentiment regarding the Wayne County Jail.

McCartney said a major point to be discussed is how the new jail will be financed. He explained there are several bonding methods from which the board can choose.

The commissioner said county officials have been eyeing sites around the present Wayne County Jail at 525 Clinton St. in Detroit as possible location for the new jail. He said he was hoping the new facility could be located in that vicinity.

The county has been under judicial prodding to improve conditions at the present jail. A circuit court ruling stated that conditions at the Wayne County Jail constituted "cruel and unusual punishment for the inmates."

In late July the commissioners adopted a comprehensive jail master plan which included an 18-month target date for the start of construction of a new jail facility.

Last month the commissioners' renovation plans for the present jail were approved by Robert J. Russell, state jail inspector. The plans call for $1.5 million to be used for renovation of the plumbing, electrical and ventilation systems in the jail, expected them to be completed within 18 months.

Salvation Army reappraises its services to the community

During the past several months the Salvation Army has been engaged in the serious task of making a careful re-appraisal of its services in the community. "We are concerned," said Divisional Commander Colonel S.W. Franzen, "about the changes and population shifts in the Metropolitan Detroit area. There seems to be a real need for an objective look at the many and varied problems confronting today's Salvation Army. For the first time we went outside the Army and engaged the firm of Harold E. Winey, nationally known development planning consultants." After months of research, Mr. Winey and his staff compiled their findings and put together an in-depth report: — THE SALVATION ARMY. A LONG-RANGE DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR METROPOLITAN DETROIT.

Included in this brochure is projected planning for Army Community Centers which now provide multi-service programs for young people and their families. This report proposes greater emphasis on testing the effectiveness and efficiency of innovative programs in the Inner City and transitional areas, with "Community Service Corps" volunteers and resources being provided as part of a sustaining effort. Winey Consultants have made additional recommendations for such key Salvation Army services as family welfare, Harbor Light Alcoholic Treatment Center, Booth Hospital for Unwed Mothers and Camp Echo Grove.

There are no changes proposed in the basic structure and program of the Salvation Army since it feels its business is still people. It will continue to meet the needs of the person, which is the only criteria for services. The Salvation Army's increasing involvement in the treatment of drug addiction points up one more timely adaptability of meeting the need at the point of need. As it improves and expands its services, the Salvation Army hopes to serve the community with the greatest effectiveness of its long history in Detroit.

new facilities in Metropolitan Detroit can be obtained by writing Colonel S.W. Franzen, 601 Bagley Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.
